

God's Afterparty from Beata Abraham

Have you ever spent a sublimely impassioned stretch of time together with the people you love? The kind of time that engulfed your emotions and senses? Perhaps there was reflection about all that you mean to each other, heartfelt apologies followed by earnest vows to be and do better in the future, delicious meals under the stars, dancing to raucous music, recanting beloved tales and celebration of the special bond you share with each other? Needless to say, it probably felt like a lot. Yet, in spite of feeling spent, when it was time to say goodbye you found yourself unready for the time together to end?

There is a Jewish holiday based on this exact feeling.

Most of us know that Simchat Torah is the day we celebrate the completion of the annual reading of the Torah and affirm the Torah as one of the pillars on which we as Jews, build our lives. But there is another holiday that is not so clearly defined: Shemini Atzeret.

Unlike most Jewish holidays, Shemini Atzeret doesn't commemorate a specific historical event or victory, or even have a clear set of traditions or activities we are supposed to engage in to celebrate. What it does have, is the confusing word, "Atzeret." While we know that Shemini means eighth, the problem with the word Atzeret is that we are not entirely sure what it means. Most likely this word comes from the Hebrew word "atzar," a verb that is translated to mean to stop, to pause, or to hold back.

So why do we have this ambiguous day? The Midrash essentially tells us that Shemini Atzeret is like God's afterparty with the Jewish people. An extra day for God to hang out with us, while we process and recover from the aftermath of the revelry. Much like the day after vacation that is often needed to prepare yourself mentally and emotionally before returning to the familiar framework of regular life, God wants one more day with us, the Jewish people, to be together. Just to chill.

The intense emotional rhythm of the holidays asks a lot from us. We throw a birthday party for the world, summon the strength to forgive, pound our chests in regret for the error of our ways. We recall the misery of exile and the joy of redemption, building huts and with them model the importance of welcoming guests, not to mention – praying a lot! Shemini Atzeret is the welcome rest day we all need. A day to coalesce all we have struggled with and learned, and spend some time alone with God, no agenda required. It is a day to reflect on the knowledge that while the Torah belongs to the nation of Israel, it also belongs to each one of us in the most personal way. Yes, Judaism can be about a whole lot of symbolism, customs, traditions (and food!), but Shemini Atzeret is a reminder that rest and reflection are just as integral to nourishing our souls.

Besides, why would we turn down some quality time with God?

Stay all night, stay a little longer
Dance all night, dance a little longer
Pull off your coat, throw it in the corner
Don't see why you can't stay a little longer.
-Willie Nelson

A Note from Hazzan Stein

What do a wily Roman slave, a post-Impressionist French artist, a vengeful London barber, star-crossed lovers in New York City, and Little Red Riding Hood all have in common? They are all lead characters in hit Broadway shows by Stephen Sondheim.

Beginning his career as a lyricist, collaborating with genius composers Leonard Bernstein (West Side Story) and Jule Styne (Gypsy), Sondheim quickly became successful writing both music and lyrics for hit Broadway shows including A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street, Sunday in the Park with George, Into the Woods, to name a few, and winning multiple Tony and Grammy awards, an Academy Award, a Pulitzer Prize, and more.

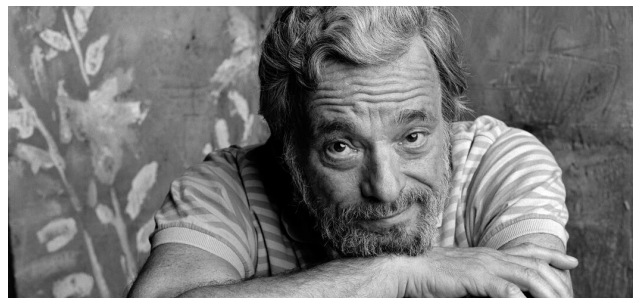

Sondheim was a true master wordsmith, infusing his songs with clever rhymes and playful turns of phrase that highlighted his commentary on the human psyche and frequently his own complicated relationship with himself and society. Equally gifted as a composer, Sondheim's music can be, at times, simple and singable, and at other times dissonant and rhythmically unsettling, keeping the audience on its toes (or, just as likely, off balance) but always enthralled and eager to hear what's next.

With that introduction, I'm excited to share the news of our annual fall concert, Simply Sondheim, on Sunday, November 6, at 4 p.m. Once again, we will bring together Milwaukee's top musical theater performers for a one of a kind musical review, this year featuring the songs of the late great Stephen Sondheim. Many of our performers are veterans of Skylight Music Theatre, as well as our annual fall concerts, including this year's musical director, Tim Rebers. Faithful CBINT concert-goers will remember Tim from our productions of Fiddler: The Untold Tradition (Perchik), King David (David), and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat (Simeon) bringing the house down with his over the top rendition of "Those Canaan Days."

Our concerts are always a strong community and artistic event, as well as an important fundraiser for our congregation. I invite you to be one of the many song sponsors who help produce this concert and bring in essential funds for CBINT. This year, we are looking for seven new sponsors to step up, and seven regular sponsors to increase their sponsorship level. If we can count on you, please give me a call.

Thank you to everyone for your continued support. Mark your calendar for Sunday, November 6, at 4 p.m., and join us for an unforgettable musical afternoon.

For more information on this year's concert or to be a song sponsor, please contact Hazzan Stein at hazzanstein@cbintmilwaukee.org or 414-352-7310 ex. 116

The Abraham Accords: A Path Towards Peace and Prosperity

Saturday, October 15, 2022

Last Spring, Dr. Mark and Linda Freedman joined Israel Bonds Leadership on a once in a lifetime trip to the United Arab Emirates (UAE), Bahrain and Israel. The trip was organized to celebrate and promote the historic Abraham Accords, and to understand their origins, the people behind them, and the tremendous possibilities they represent.

Join us for Shabbat services and a special presentation from Dr. Freedman about his unique journey and partnership with Israel Bonds.

Kiddush lunch in the Sukkah co-sponsored by Israel Bonds and Mark and Linda Freedman.

Steak and Scotch ... YEP!

As I've mentioned in a past article, but now do so with much more immediacy, Steak and Scotch in the Sukkah is October 13.

Because we're so close to the date, to make sure you're in before the deadline, run, don't walk, to your phone or computer and let me know you're on board. Call 414-791-6457 or email mspanjar@gmail.com.

Looking at the recent past, I want to thank Rodney Ugent for once again coordinating an awesome Brewers vs. Cubs tailgate event. We won, which made it so much sweeter.

How did you like your hamburgers, Italians and hot dogs at the CBINT family picnic? If they were to your liking, you're welcome. If not, well, you know what your mother told you ... if you don't have anything nice to say, zip it!

To paraphrase an old joke, we're a drinking club with a men problem. In other words, let's build our club with more guys who want to cavort, help the synagogue, support families, and otherwise boost mensch-osity. Not a member? Let's chat!

All my best to you,
Mike Spanjar,
Men's Club Immediate Past President

Sisterhood – Return of the Vendor Fair and More!

We hope everyone has enjoyed celebrating Rosh HaShana with family and friends. Once again we welcome back the fall with all our upcoming lovely autumn holidays. Being back together in person at CBINT feels familiar and novel at the same time. We feel grateful to return.

Please “Save the Date” for the return of Sisterhood’s Vendor Fair on Sunday, October 23. Vendors will include those returning by popular demand plus new vendors who will spike your interest to attend. The Vendor Fair promises something for everyone! More details to follow. Upcoming programming also hopes to include a joint venture with the Men’s Club.

We are extending our invitation for those interested in getting involved with a great group of women. We still have open Board positions available, and we would love your help in making this year a great one! Sisterhood welcomes and needs your input, program ideas, and commitment to CBINT. Remember that we are YOUR Sisterhood. We succeed only with you as part of the team.

Please reach out to us for more information and join us!

May you be inscribed and sealed for a good year!

CONGREGATION
NER TAMID

Early Autumn Updates from the Social Action Committee

The committee and its member teams have been busy wrapping up summer. In addition to our newest members – Bobbi Fishbein, Bobbie Fishman, and Sarie Shainock – we welcome dialog with all congregants who are interested in what the committee is doing and other opportunities that might be worth exploring and could be valuable to the committee and its members.

The Vegetable Garden – which has had an abundant summer – is still providing produce for the Jewish Community Food Pantry. The Butterfly Garden has been a welcoming space for butterflies and hummingbirds since its completion early summer. Both of these projects were completed and tended to through the loving actions of the Green Team. When you see Karen Rachum or Dr. Amanda Stein be sure to thank them for their efforts and ask about others who are participating. All kudos are welcomed by those doing so much of the work in both areas.

Marge's Mitzvah Knitters have their schedule established at CBINT through December. The group's finished products will be deeply appreciated as the weather turns cold and schools or daycares find themselves in need of mittens or hats for students.

Most important of all are the fast-approaching High Holydays! Social Action members have obtained information and indeed this year the Jewish Food Pantry needs food donations. A list of items that people can donate is below and will be stapled to donated grocery bags and distributed after services on the first day of Rosh HaShana. We are asking all congregants to be as generous as possible in filling a bag and then returning that bag on Erev Yom Kippur. Your donations will mean so much to those in need. And the Social Action Committee deeply appreciates your efforts to ease another's burdens.

L'Shana Tova! A Happy Healthy New Year to You and Yours.

CBINT Annual Kol Nidre Food Collection Drive

Benefitting the communities served by the Jewish Community Pantry of Milwaukee.

CBINT will continue our annual tradition of a Kol Nidre food collection drive to benefit the communities served by the Jewish Community Pantry of Milwaukee.

All food must be non-perishable, in original, sealed packaging.

The Pantry has requested a priority collection of the following items:

- Canned protein (canned tuna, chicken, salmon or other canned meats)
 - Non-meat protein (low/no sodium canned beans)
 - Peanut butter
 - Rolled oats / oatmeal
- Whole grains (pasta, barley, brown rice, or wild rice)
 - Low-sodium or water-packed canned vegetables
 - Canned fruits in 100% juice or light syrup

Please bring your donations as you enter CBINT for Kol Nidre services

Kosher and non-kosher items are welcome.

Mazel Tov מזל טוב

Sarina Eliza Tasman will be called to the Torah as a Bat Mitzvah on October 8, 2022 – 13 Tishrei, Parashat HaAzinu at CBINT. Sarina is a seventh grader at Milwaukee Jewish Day School where she runs cross country and sings with the choir. She spends her summers with more friends at Habonim Dror Camp Tavor, and her latest obsessions include watching medical television shows and reading books about human anatomy. Sarina's parents, Bonnie Klein-Tasman and Marc Tasman of Milwaukee; grandparents Mona and Sandor Klein of Montreal; grandparents Mina and Jerry Tasman and great-grandmother Martha Frockt of Louisville; and brother Milo B. Tasman, in his first year at McGill University, are all swelling with pride for her diligent and sensitive preparations!

MARSHA'S BOOK NOOK

at the Jewish Community Pantry
in memory of Marsha Denny

Marsha Denny, the past president of CBINT and consummate volunteer, passed away in September 2021.

A special fund has been established at the Jewish Community Pantry. This fund will support Marsha's Book Nook, a program that Marsha herself envisioned as a long-time volunteer at the pantry. Her love of children, teaching reading, and helping others spurred Marsha to frequently purchase new children's books to give out to the younger pantry visitors.

A section of the Jewish Community Pantry will be set aside for Marsha's Book Nook, a quiet and inviting space for young children to sit with volunteers, look through pre-literacy and early reader books, and enjoy story time. It will also distribute new or gently used books to pantry families with early readers for as long as supplies last.

To donate, please visit jccmilwaukee.org/booknook

Book donations may be brought to CBINT on Kol Nidre eve, along with non-perishable food donations.
