

Dance Like No One (Except God) is Watching! from Beata Abraham

The Jewish people have a somewhat complicated relationship with the concept of happiness. We want to be happy ... but there's our iconic guilt. We want to be happy ... but there's our trademark angst. We want to be happy

... but we have a long history of tragedy and modern times are proving to be no less filled with heartbreak for our people. What are stiff-necked yet resilient people supposed to do to tap into that joy with which we are commanded to serve God on a regular basis?

The Declaration of Independence takes the importance of happiness as seriously as we do, even going so far as to codify our inalienable rights as human beings to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Judaism endorses this message wholeheartedly.

There are innumerable directives in the Tanach telling us to "Worship The Lord with gladness; come before him with a joyful song." And in case that message isn't clear enough, there is an abundance of Hebrew words at our disposal to express the spectrum of human joy.

Let us hope that we are all privileged to experience ditza – a sublime joy, chedva – the happiness of togetherness, or rina – refreshing happiness. The nuance is real, because happiness comes in so many different variants.

The pressure to be happy in the context of Judaism is both explicit and implied. In fact, the Talmud tells us to be extra happy: "When Adar enters, joy increases." But how can the Torah (God) command us to channel an emotion on demand? Life is hard, so what happens if we are just not feeling it? Are we not fulfilling the happiness commandment if we are struggling with the sadness of a loss, or are simply mired in malaise during the month of Adar? Seems like God would understand the vagaries of human emotions well enough to know that they are not entirely under our control?

Rest assured that the Torah gets it. God gives us only those commandments that are within our control to fulfill; therefore it almost always addresses the realm of action rather than thought or emotion. We can choose to take action or not. We can be commanded not to eat pork, but it's impossible to command us not to be sad about not eating bacon (this might just be me). When we translate the adjective "happy" to the verb "rejoice," we understand that we do indeed have a choice in the matter of happiness. We can choose to do the actions that will cause us to feel the emotion.

"You shall observe the Festival of Sukkot seven days, after you have gathered in your grain and your wine; And you shall rejoice in your festival, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your manservant, and your maidservant, and the Levite, the stranger, and the orphan, and the widow."

Perhaps, for some people, complete happiness is to be one with their couch while streaming Netflix (I may or may not be talking about myself). That is perfectly fine, but we all need to keep in mind

'Are we not fulfilling the happiness commandment if we are struggling with the sadness of a loss...'

that that is not the way to live a life of joy in the way Judaism intended. The Jewish definition of rejoicing is to go out into the community to hold our celebrations and to find ways to include those who are less fortunate and lacking resources. It is the very act of participating in the celebration, of doing a kindness and helping others, that leads to the feelings of joy and happiness. Sure, happiness can be experiencing the hedonistic pleasures of a celebration like Purim, which are considered holy in their own right (the food, the wine, the singing, the ridiculously adorable children in costume), but it must also be about fulfilling the obligation to bring joy and sustenance to “the stranger, the orphan, and the widow.” Therein lies deeper happiness.

J.D. Salinger was not wrong when he wrote “Happiness is a solid, joy is a liquid.”

Let’s enter the month of Adar paying full attention to the much needed reminder that it requires action on our part to fulfill the mitzvah of “increasing our joy.” There are tools aplenty to achieve this increase; commandments telling us to celebrate, feast, drink too much wine. Plus, we get bonus points for doing good unto others (not to mention the gratification that organically comes with that). So pay attention to the Jewish calendar and the times of the year when the command to kick our rejoicing level up a few notches isn’t just a suggestion but an actual requirement.

We are here, we are alive, and in spite of a past and present filled with pain and tragedy, we as Jews will never lose our capacity to rejoice. So let’s show them how we do it – get out there and dance like no one (except God) is watching.

A Note from President Menachem Graupe – Rabbi Alter’s Contract

As you may know, Rabbi Alter’s current contract ends the summer of 2025, and that time will pass quickly. The current contract stipulates that by this May, the Board and the Rabbi should inform one another whether to pursue a new contract. The Board has already begun to gather input to make an informed decision.

As of this writing, a review committee has been formed. All synagogue members are encouraged to provide feedback through a questionnaire, and some of you will be asked to participate in a short interview. I am looking forward to hearing your thoughts. Based on the congregation’s and the committee’s input, the Board of Trustees will make its decision on whether to pursue a new contract for Rabbi Alter.

Wishing you all a continued healthy, happy secular Shana Tova and an early chag Purim Sameach,

Menachem Henny Graupe, President

Sisterhood Supports CBINT and Beyond

CBINT's Sisterhood is planning for spring with meaningful and fun programming. We continue to proudly contribute to a wide variety of initiatives within and beyond CBINT. Given the urgent demands arising from the war in Israel, we expect to commit dollars and time in support of Israeli communities and others affected. Our dues, donations, and fundraisers directly support:

- Contributions to CBINT's Operating Budget
- Targeted support for specific CBINT programs, including:
 - Hazzan Stein's programming
 - Shul School and Youth Groups
 - Hanukkah Celebration
 - The Merry Atinsky Kiddush Fund
 - Gifts for our B'nai Mitzvah
- Sisterhood Scholar in Residence Shabbat
- The Glass Box Gift Shop

- Women's Voice lecture series
- "Diva's Day Out" Vendor Fair
- Baking honey cakes, Hamantaschen and challot for Shabbat and Chagim
- Annual contribution to Torah Fund, an international commitment of Women's League to support the Conservative/Masorti institutions around the world that train our leaders and educators
- and so much more!

While community is always important, now more than ever we are reminded of the power of togetherness and connection. We cannot wait to be with you in Sisterhood, and look forward to all we can accomplish! Thank you to those who have joined us and with their annual membership and Life Membership!

Marge's Mitzvah Knitters Meet February 4 and 18

With December being the month for giving, Marge's Mitzvah Knitters shared completed items within the community. Kids Matter, an agency that helps abused and neglected youth in Milwaukee, received over 15 beautiful blankets. We distributed knit hats and scarves to The Cathedral Center, a women's homeless shelter. Scarves, hats, gloves, and socks were gifted to identified recipients through Tikkun Ha-Ir's annual Holiday Giving program. We also donated additional items to Tikkun Ha-Ir to distribute to organizations they support.

Upcoming knitting dates are Sundays February 4 and 18 from 10-11:30 a.m. Knit, shmooze, enjoy coffee or tea, and be impressed with all the beautiful and cozy items created by our members.

If you don't know how to knit, don't worry! We'll teach you and provide needles and yarn.

Conversation, coffee, tea, and friendship are free. Contact Ellen Goldstein (414-861-6734) or Sarie Shainock (414-403-6158) for more details.

Interested In Sponsoring a Kiddush Lunch? It's Easy!

Whether it's to celebrate, honor or commemorate, you can be a part of creating community and the warm Shul atmosphere in which we take pride. You can sponsor a lunch yourself, with friends or family, or with a group. Contributions to the full cost are welcome too.

To sponsor a Kiddush, please contact kitchen@CBINTmilwaukee.org

2 NEW COURSES WITH RABBI ALTER

King David: Still Swooning After 3,000 Years

A Study of the Book of Samuel with Rabbi Alter

Continuing the Book of Samuel, picking up where we left off last spring (I Samuel Chapter 21). Each class is a close reading of the text, highlighting meaning over plot. Through open and engaged discussion, we explore ambiguous questions of morality, humanity, ambition, devotion, and more.

Our core text is Robert Alter's translation and commentary The David Story, though we do access the Hebrew original.

Classes meet Tuesdays,
January 2 - March 12, 7:00-8:30pm

Feel Like A Stranger in a Foreign Land?

An Introduction to Jewish Prayer

We'll cover some essential what, how, and why's of Jewish prayer, opening closed doors even for experienced folks.

You can expect...

- to learn core prayer terms and concepts
- to try postures and practices that help prayer motions become prayer
- to consider questions like, Why Pray and Pray to Whom?

*Note: Hebrew literacy is NOT required. All are welcome.
We seek a mix of beginners and experienced service-goers.*

Classes meet Sundays,
February 25 - April 7, 10:15-11:30am

Our Congregation Mourns the Passing of:

Sanford Alan Cohen

Our congregation mourns the passing of Sanford Alan Cohen on January 7, 2024. Sanford was the father of the late Cindy Beth (Cohen) Kostrubala and Genny Faith Cohen. He is also survived by Cindy's husband, Bart Kostrubala, his grandchildren, Justin Edward Gray, Ashley Collette (Alec Davis) Brown, and Jack Gabriel Brown, and by his loving companion, Rosemary Murtha. He was preceded in death by his former, late wife Marilyn Lee Hutner, and by his parents, Dr. Albert Jerome Cohen and Bernice (Hutner) Cohen. Sanford is further survived by many friends.
